Local patriotism displayed at rally

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

More than 150 persons braved temperatures in the 20s and cold winds to attend a patriotism rally in the parking lot of Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center at 2:30 p.m. Thursday.

The rally, announced as the first of several to be planned, centered around the theme, "Thumbs Up America," a slogan created by barber Fred McCollegan of Granite City, the primary organizer of the rally.

Before each speech, McCollegan led the enthusiastic crowd in chanting, "Thumbs Up America," while holding thumbs in the air.

The mood of the rally was set by the Drum and Bugle Corps of Granite City High School North and the Steel City Belles Pom Pom Squad of that school.

After Boy Scout Michael Mercer led the Pledge of Allegiance and June Branding led the singing of the National Anthem, McCollegan introduced Mayor Paul Schuler, who said, "I think it is terrific this many people came out in weather like this. It shows a lot of patriotism."

"Thumbs Up America expresses our relief and joy at getting our people (hostages) back and is a symbol we need to unite us as a people and to remind us that no matter what condition our country is in, it is still the greatest country in the world."

Schuler also said, "This is an opportunity for a new beginning. We can go forward with confidence. Our nation is at peace. No young Americans are at war anywhere around the world."

"Now is the time to forget the scars of Vietnam and to rededicate ourselves to the principals upon which this country was founded."

"I ask all of you to join hands and go into the 1980s with firm resolve to enter the future with great dedication and resolve and bear testimony that patriotism is still alive," the mayor concluded.

Capt. Robert Klass of the Granite City Army Installation, was the main speaker at the outdoor event. He quoted Daniel Webster in saying, "God grants liberty only to those who live it and are always ready to guard and defend it."

Capt. Klass honored the released hostages from Iran, saying, "Only a week ago was our nation able to conclude negotiations that ended 52 of our fellow countrymen to be released from 14 months of captivity in a strange and hostile land. Though we rejoice in their release, we must never forget the eight brave men who sacrificed their lives in the April attempt to extract the hostages from their captors."

"In light of past events, the question we ponder now is, 'Could this country successfully counter a Soviet military thrust, no matter where it comes?' The answer depends upon the state of readiness of our military forces," the captain said.

He quoted George Washington, saying, "If we desire peace, it must be known that we are at all times ready for war."

Capt. Klass also honored the 760,000 full-time American soldiers stationed around the world and the more than half a million reserve members and guardsmen. "These people make up the total Army—full-time soldiers and the citizen soldiers. They serve for many reasons."

"Some serve for the material benefits. Many others serve for income and rewards that are harder to quantify, such as patriotism, duty and honor," the captain said.

He called for the country to support its military and encouraged young men and women to consider serving in the Army for "the honor of preserving freedom."

The rally was opened and closed with prayer by the Rev. Louis Frick of Niedringhaus Methodist Church, who said we should be thankful we have the opportunity to gather "to support our great nation."

After the rally, McCollegan said he was grateful to all those who helped in organizing the rally, including the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, Bowler Trucking, the Crossroads Plaza Merchants, Fornazewski Music and the Vain Advertising Co., which designed a Thumbs Up America billboard for the back of the flatbed

THUMBS UP AMERICA was the theme of a patriotic rally in the Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center parking lot Thursday afternoon, a day declared by President Ronald Reagan for celebration over the return of the former Iranian hostages to America. A crowd estimated at

Terminate GC medical plan

... city may self-insure

Plans by Granite City to self-insure health and major medical coverages for all employees and city officials have been speeded up as the result of a decision by the current insurance carrier that it intends to terminate the city's coverage March 1.

Golden Rule Insurance Co. told the city council by letter at the last council meeting that the claims experience on the city policy last year would justify a "drastic" increase in rates, which would not be acceptable to the city, according to the letter.

Therefore, the letter concludes, Golden Rule declines to continue being the group insurance carrier, effective March 1.

Mayor Paul Schuler told the council that the issue is being studied by the city's finance committee and suggested the letter be referred to that committee, headed by Alderman Paul Ray Bowler.

Bowler was not present at the council meeting, but told the Press-Record Friday that he believes the city can save between 25 to 30 percent of the approximately $470,000 annual premium it now pays to Golden Rule by one of three options.

One would be to obtain coverage through another insurance company, a second would be to self-insure and the third would be a combination of both.

"By March 1, the city will have an insurance program we believe will be better than the present coverage," Bowler predicted.

He said his committee is attempting to have a package ready for the city council to consider the third Tuesday of February, and, hopefully to pass the last Tuesday of the month, four days before Golden Rule's coverage expires.

Mayor Schuler said he believes Golden Rule could be persuaded to continue the city's coverage for a short time after the March 1 deadline, if the city encounters problems in formulating an alternate program.

Schuler said he and his administrative aide, David Nolan, have been working with the finance committee on self-insurance and believes "the city can save large amounts of money by self-insuring."

"I believe there is no doubt we could save money. Just like self-insurance on workman's compensation saved us at least $50,000 a year, and perhaps more," the mayor added.

He said two different proposals from the city's insurance broker now are under consideration.

Even if the city decides to self-insure the employees health and major medical coverage, it would need a policy protecting it from catastrophic claims, such as a multi-million dollar settlement, he noted.

Bowler stressed that the city still is accepting proposals from insurance companies and any firm which would like to submit a proposal should do so as soon as possible.

Transit tax is effective

High school, jr. high costs studied

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Will the Granite City Board of Education once again "bite the bullet" and shut down school buildings as an economy measure?

Increasing numbers of taxpayers are concluding that the board may be doing that, despite the unpopularity of any change in the status quo. And many think that a bold move, rather than a hesitant step, might be the best way to proceed.

High school and junior high school programs may be altered, board members have said.

When the idea of closing an elementary school or two was first raised in the late 1970s, there was a somewhat tentative approach. Separate hearings were conducted for all neighborhoods that would have been affected, and the largely negative sentiment among those attending was translated into inaction.

Later, the board scheduled a single hearing on closing Washington, McKinley and Stallings schools. Citizens objected to the plan, but it was implemented a year and a half ago—trimming overall operation and maintenance costs, and slowing but not reversing School District Nine's growing financial imbalance.

Voters on Oct. 25, 1980, rejected by a nearly 2:1 margin a $2,900,000 bond issue and a 10-cent increase in the fund tax rate. The proposals were intended to finance renovation of

Effects of bond issue defeat are being felt existing schools and increased preventive maintenance work.

A comprehensive study completed by school administrators Jan. 13 found that essential structural improvements and equipment will total $3,445,700 during the next five years, not allowing for inflation.

Even without any of this being done, building fund tax borrowing is headed for second-year anticipation warrants by 1985, the study notes.

Ten possible actions, including closing of facilities, were outlined and currently are being studied by administrators and board members. Some action could be necessary soon, since faculty members who would lose their jobs must be notified by April.

No cut in the study notes. In reducing the number of teachers in recent years, the board felt it had to terminate those with the shortest employment. The result was loss of some of "the best and brightest" along with those less highly rated. The average faculty age was increased sharply.

Many of those honorably discharged were on grade school staffs; increasingly, secondary-level teachers are likely to be targeted.

With dollars and students scarce, there has been a cullback in the curriculum offered to young people. But the board and administrators found that what they felt were relatively minor curriculum consolidations drew a sharp protest from high school teachers and students at the Jan. 20 board meeting.

If more stringent curriculum cutbacks are considered, if big chunks of academic or vocational or extracurricular offerings are deleted, even louder complaints seem certain.

Yet, the budget must be balanced somehow, and voters seem unwilling to end the dilemma by authorizing tax rate hikes, officials say. With this apparent fact of life, no portion of school spending may escape scrutiny. It was disclosed Thursday that the $1,500,000 a year student lunch program in the Granite City district has $645,000 yearly "red ink." Already, the board is moving to make drastic school cafeteria changes, even though families may wind up paying more or getting less food.

Swift action also is being taken to carry out "quick payback" projects, such as converting more school furnaces to other fuels to reduce heating costs.

What changes in school services or procedures would have the most impact in reducing expenses or balancing income and outgo? Which options would be mainly cosmetic in nature?

Some of the partial remedies discussed last month would have only

Tavern owner is injured

The owner of El Gato Tavern, 1800 Delmar Ave., was injured in a disturbance at his place of business at 7 a.m. Saturday and one man was arrested as a result of the melee involving four other unknown persons, witnesses said.

According to police reports, four unidentified men entered the tavern early Saturday morning and allegedly started a fight with two patrons, during which Al Delgado, the owner, was struck on the left side of his head.

Witnesses said Delgado was attempting to call the police when one of the invaders told him they would kill him if he called the authorities and then they apparently threw a beer bottle at him striking him on the left side of his head.

He was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where he was treated and was released hours later. The two customers, one from Spanish Lake, Mo., and one from Collinsville, were injured, but refused immediate medical attention. A female companion of one of the men was struck in the mouth during the fight but also refused medical care, according to witnesses.

After the disturbance, the four men who allegedly started the disturbance left the premises and were later taken into custody by the police at a tavern at 18th and State streets.

Steve Pruett, 22, of 204 Madison Ave., Madison, was charged with battery and criminal damage to property over $150. The other men were questioned and released, pending additional investigation.

Pruett in the tavern at the time of the fight, contended there were five men, including Pruett, involved in the disturbance.

During the alleged fight, several bar stools were broken, the front glass of the juke box was broken and the contents were damaged, police said.

Probation for priest

More than three years after his first arrest outside the Hope Clinic for Women, the Rev. Edwin F. Arensen has been found guilty of criminal trespass to land and sentenced to one year of probation following a jury trial at the county courthouse in Edwardsville.

The charge, verdict and subsequent sentence allegedly put his foot between the door and jamb and held onto the door, keeping it open. The director struggled to keep control of the door, witnesses said.

The jury of seven men and five women found the priest innocent of an assault charge. He was instructed to pay $5 in court costs.

Associate Judge Thomas Moody, the clinic's director who signed the complaints against Rev. Arensen, came to the door and told newsmen that they were welcome to enter the reception area, but that Rev. Arensen was not welcome and she asked him to leave.

After several subsequent requests for the priest to leave the premises, she attempted to close the door and Rev. Arensen allegedly put his foot between the door and jamb and held onto the door, keeping it open. The director struggled to keep control of the door, witnesses said.

Appointed to USAF Academy

Allen Sten Jorgensen, a senior at Granite City High School North, has accepted an appointment to the United States Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo.

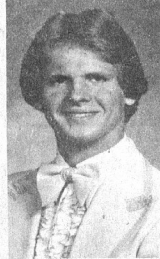

Jorgensen, 17, was nominated to the service academy by former U.S. Senator Adlai E. Stevenson (D-Ill.).

He is the son of Edwin and Ruth Jorgensen, 4404 Highway 162.

The appointee recently was notified that he had been also awarded a four-year Air Force ROTC scholarship, his mother said.

Jorgensen, whose current interest lies in the field of computer programming, will attend open house at the Air Force Academy on May 1.

His service commitment starts June 1.

Warn of fraudulent Ill. driver licenses

Secretary of State Jim Edgar has alerted retail establishments and financial institutions in Illinois to beware of fraudulent driver licenses and photo identification cards.

The alert follows the theft of two photo identification cameras from the Secretary of State driver station in Chicago Heights.

Edgar said the stolen equipment will produce reasonable facsimiles of a driver's license.

The thieves did not take the equipment necessary to print the personal identification data on the license. This information is applied to the license through a computer, and the print is unusual.

The official print is composed of a series of dots to form each letter and character.

The public is being alerted to watch for and question a driver's license having the number 117 following the signature of Alan J. Dixon and which displays printing of type used in ordinary typewriters.

When these two characteristics occur—the number 117 and solid type print—the license or photo ID card should be questioned, Edgar said.

He added that "if there is the slightest doubt about the validity of a driver's license, further identification should be demanded. Often, a comparison with a valid driver's license will be helpful."

Moose seeks to force city to purchase lodge building

Granite City officials will have to go to court on or before Feb. 20 to defend the city against a lawsuit filed by Moose Lodge 272, 19th and Adams streets, which is attempting to force the city to purchase their present lodge building.

The lodge is asking for a court order which would force the city into an eminent domain proceeding to determine the value of the building and to force the city to purchase it.

The Moose contend that construction of the 19th Street overpass has damaged the building's foundation and that a wall was constructed immediately in front of the lodge's front door, damaging the value of the building.

The club plans to construct a new building on Maryville Road and would like the city to purchase the former lodge.

The summons on the lawsuit is against the mayor, each alderman and John Kramer, secretary of the Illinois Department of Transportation.

Previously, the Moose Lodge was unsuccessful in obtaining a restraining order to halt construction of the overpass until the issue of damage to the lodge building was resolved. The judge at that time ruled that a restraining order would not be the proper remedy to resolving the problem and dismissed the lawsuit.

The Moose lodge then filed for eminent domain proceedings.

Scouts host hike project

Members of Boy Scout Troop 96 completed the first of five 10-mile hikes in conjunction with earning the hiking merit awards and hiking merit badges.

Along the way the group played trail finding games prepared by their patrol leaders. Mitchell Volunteer Fire Department offered the scouts refreshments on the return trip.

Those taking part in the adventure were Darrell Young, David Maxwell, Darrell Schafer, David Allen, Jon Morgan, Mike Charbonnier, Dion Hull, George Kamacho, John Hergeris, Doug Hale, Kevin Haddick, Scott Wilson, James Wright, Craig Glasgow and Jeff Isenberg accompanied by Bud Charbonnier, scoutmaster and Bob Young, assistant scoutmaster.

The troop will host a chili supper on Friday, Feb. 13, at Niedringhaus, United Methodist Church with serving to be from 11 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.

Insurance buyer guides available

Illinois consumers can now obtain copies of two new insurance buyer guides published by the Illinois Department of Insurance. The "Buyers Guide to Homeowners and Tenants Insurance" and the "Buyers Guide to Automobile Insurance" summarize basic coverages and cost factors, and offer shopping hints.

"Special feature of both pamphlets is an easy-to-complete worksheet that enables the consumer to compare companies."

"Our sole purpose in preparing these guides is to provide the public with essential insurance information and common-sense advice," said Philip R. O'Connor, director, Illinois Insurance Department.

"We decided against publishing rates because they tend to confuse people, and are often outdated by the time they are printed. "Even in homeowner and auto insurance where coverages are fairly similar from company to company, it is virtually impossible to present a completely accurate dollar comparison. "The worksheets are much more practical. They outline the points that can and should be compared so that consumers can draw their own conclusions about finding the right company."

Copies of the guides are available free from the Illinois Department of Insurance, 320 W. Washington St., Springfield 62767.

Requests should be addressed to Buyers Guides and should include a self-addressed, stamped business envelope. Postage rates are 15 cents for one guide and 28 cents for both.

Requests for multiple copies will be honored while the supply lasts.

O'Connor also said the department is working on guides for accident and health and life insurance, as well as cancellation and non-renewal laws and what to do after a loss. The latter will encompass all lines of insurance.

Probation for battery of child, 8

Circuit Judge Philip J. Rarick has placed Owen Koleff, 39, of 2717 W. 22nd St. on one year of probation for battery occurring on May 19, 1980. An initial charge of child cruelty was amended to battery.

An eight-year-old girl who was beaten was hospitalized for observation of possible head injuries. A man who was questioned at a residence where a child was screaming told police he was disciplining the child.

There were numerous bruises on the girl's face and body, and she was taken into protective custody.

5 hurt in icy crash

Five men were injured in a head-on crash on Icy Route 203, one-fourth of a mile north of Bend Road during a snowstorm at 4:40 p.m. Thursday.

According to the Illinois State Police, the auto of William Ingram II, 18, of 1039 Calhoun St., Venice, was northbound when it went out of control on the ice and slid a long distance into the oncoming auto of Eugene R. Wilson, 43, Highland. Ingram was ticketed for driving too fast for conditions.

Wilson and four men in his car were taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center with various injuries. Treated were passengers Michael Maynard, 62, Frank W. Prusa, 43, Bernard Hemann, 50, and Jerald Steinkoenig, 50, all of Highland. The Highland residents were transferred to St. Joseph's Hospital in Highland.

Expansions by Consolidated

Consolidated Aluminum Corp. has just announced plans for more than $700 million in capital investments during a five-year period.

The capital will be used for modernization and expansion of existing aluminum fabricating plants and for construction of a new plant for cast stock and other flat-rolled aluminum products.

The plant site will be near Consolidated's New Johnsonville, Tenn., smelter. Engineering and equipment orders are under way, with production scheduled for the end of 1983.

The new plant will utilize Caster II, a proprietary continuous strip casting process developed by Swiss Aluminum Ltd., the parent company of St. Louis-based Consolidated. A scrap reprocessing center will also be at the site.

Consolidated intends to emphasize its participation as an aluminum supplier to the U.S. can manufacturing industry, a spokesman said.

The capital investment plan also includes major modernization and expansion programs at the Hannibal, Ohio, rolling mill and Jackson, Tenn., foil plant.

Consolidated Aluminum has about 8,000 employees operating 16 plants in 10 states. The company has sales of more than $900 million in 1980. Plant locations include Madison.

Jail sentence on fire damage

Thomas W. Batey, 37, of 3001 Washington Ave., Apt. 7, has been sentenced by Circuit Judge Philip J. Rarick to 45 days in the Madison County jail and one year of probation for criminal damage to property occurring on May 14, 1980.

The charge was substituted for an original allegation of arson. It was alleged that Batey hired another man for $500 to burn a vacant residence Batey owned at 2210 Illinois Ave. Ten gallons of gasoline were poured throughout the house before a fire destroyed it and badly damaged a neighboring home.

In August, the individual who was hired was sentenced to four-year prison terms for arson and aggravated battery.

Train nurses to work with handicapped pupils

Illinois is one of four states selected by the University of Colorado for participation in a program of training school nurses to better understand and meet the needs of handicapped children in public schools.

The four states—Illinois, Arizona, Washington and New Hampshire—were chosen under a School Nurse Achievement Program grant awarded to the university by the Federal Bureau of Education for the Handicapped.

William L. Kempfers, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, said the department's School Health Section will coordinate the program in Illinois.

"The program," he said, "will be attuned to both the physical and emotional needs of handicapped children, and will seek to improve the attitudes and clinical skills of school nurses who work with them."

Current plans are to conduct training sessions for eligible nurses at 10 sites throughout the state, beginning in June. Training will consist of a two-day session, followed by a one-day session a month later and a second one-day session three weeks after that.

Pvt. Brian F. Winfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Winfield of 1845 Bremen ave., Granite City, is attending basic Army training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

Renewal stickers are now on sale

Over-the-counter sales of passenger car renewal stickers was to begin today at 524 banks in the state of Illinois, including First Granite City National Bank, the Granite City (Trust) Bank, American Heritage Bank and First National Bank in Madison, according to Secretary of State Jim Edgar.

Renewal stickers for 1982 are brown and should be placed in the upper right corner of the rear license plate.

GARAGE BURGLARIZED
Hammers, screwdrivers and a pipe wrench were taken by a burglar at the Granite City High School North maintenance garage, it was discovered Tuesday. The intruder pried open an overhead door.

New consumer lending officer at First Bank

Randy E. Vollmar has joined the Consumer Loan Department of First Granite City National Bank as assistant cashier and consumer lending officer.

Vollmar previously was employed by the State Bank of Collinsville, where he was an installment loan officer. His previous banking experience includes terms of employment with the Edgemont Bank & Trust Co. of East St. Louis and the Metropolitan Bank & Trust Company of Alton. Spanning more than 10 years, the majority of his previous banking experience was related to consumer lending.

Commenting on the most recent staff addition, Bank President Melvin C. Wilmshier noted, "The growth of First Bank over recent years and our expansion of our customer base has necessitated the realignment of certain staff functions and the addition of a consumer lending officer. We believe we are extremely fortunate to have found a young man of Randy's abilities and background to fill that position."

Vollmar is a graduate of East St. Louis Senior High School, and attended Belleville Area College. He is a graduate of the National Installment Credit School.

General Steel income, sales down slightly

General Steel Industries, Inc., had 1980 net income before tax credit of $3,588,000 or $1.15 per share of common stock, compared with $4,122,000 or $1.31 per share in 1979. J. A. Van Sant, president and chief executive officer, said Thursday. Net sales and other revenues were $82,331,000 in 1980 compared with $83,565,000 in 1979.

"Most GSI divisions had good to excellent years in 1980," Van Sant said. "As a result of the diversity of markets, GSI was less affected than would otherwise have been the case by the severe impact of the 1980 industrial recession on the markets for the National Roll Division and Simplicity Engineering Division. At these two divisions, cost-reduction programs were both stringent and successful."

GSI had net income after tax credit of $5,463,000 or $1.74 per share of common stock in 1980 compared with $6,775,000 or $2.16 per share in 1979. The tax credit included in the income statements for both periods represents anticipated tax benefits of losses and expenditures related to research and development.

Operating results for 1980 were announced following a meeting of the board of directors which declared a quarterly cash dividend of 11 cents per share of common stock, payable March 13 to shareholders of record Feb. 20.

"GSI is moving into 1981 with excellent growth prospects for some divisions and the beginnings of a recovery in the principal industrial markets that were affected by recession," Van Sant said. "We expect that 1981 as a whole should be an improved year for this company."

"We plan further expansion of products and technology to enhance our position in the market of specialty coatings used to insulate and protect oil, gas and coal slurry pipelines."

"Standard Pipe Protection Division and the recently acquired Gaido-Lingle Co. have a total of nine plants. Their continued operation gives us access to the major oil fields of the Rocky Mountain and Plains states and Southwest as well as to large regional markets on both coasts, in the Midwest and in Texas. We are 'bullish' about energy production in North America in the 1980s."

"A $2.6 million investment during 1980 in new machine and finishing facilities has made National Roll one of only two producers in the U.S. with separate finishing plants for the small rolls used by the growing mill segment of the American steel industry. We expect to take a strong leadership position in this healthy part of the steel industry market in 1981 and beyond."

2-YEAR PROBATION
Circuit Judge A. A. Matosian has ordered two-year probation for Benny Robinson, 22, of 2993 Roosevelt Ave., who was charged July 12 with possession of cannabis. Police alleged finding a paper bag containing marijuana on the front seat of his auto when it was stopped for a traffic violation on Madison Avenue in Granite City.

HARASSMENT CHARGE
Police charged Bonnie L. Wilson, 22, of 3039 rear 14th St. with harassment by telephone at 12:35 p.m. Tuesday. She pleaded innocent the same day and her bond was set at $1,000 cash.

Construction products fair

The Southern Illinois Builders Association will sponsor its fifth annual products fair—a construction material, services and building equipment exhibition—in conjunction with its annual meeting on Thursday, Feb. 5.

The fair will take place at the St. Clair Exhibition Hall, Route 13 and Route 159, Belleville.

Two speakers will be presented in the afternoon and the fair will be followed by a dinner meeting and program in the evening featuring Jack Buck, sports director of KMOX Radio, as guest speaker.

The first seminar at 2 p.m., entitled "Construction Insurance Cost Overview," will be a presentation by William S. McIntyre, president of McIntyre Financial Service of Dallas. It will offer an opportunity to understand both cost and coverage aspects of insurance.

A 4 p.m. seminar will feature a discussion on "Group Workers Compensation Insurance," Jerry Kats Cannon & Cochran will explain how such a program can be developed in Illinois. Jim Seaman of the Master Builders of Iowa will illustrate a case study of how contractors have saved thousands of dollars by participating in such a program.

Buck will talk about the 1981 baseball Cardinals, the football Cardinals and other sports teams and events. Bob Hardy, also of KMOX, will be toastmaster.

More than 60 exhibits will feature latest developments in products, equipment and services for the construction industry. This year's exhibit will feature a cross-section of the industry, with everything from computers to heavy equipment on display.

Those invited to participate in the event include construction contractors, architects, engineers and representatives of government agencies involved in the construction process.

The exhibits will open at 1 p.m. A social hour will start at 6 p.m. and the dinner at 7:30 p.m. Price of the program, including admission to the exhibits and dinner program, is $15. The SIBA staff, 397-1400, said.

The SIBA serves almost 800 general contractors and other businesses related to heavy, highway and industrial construction in southern Illinois and the St. Louis metropolitan area.

Probation for priest

Hildebrand sentenced the priest to the one year of probation, with the stipulations that the priest is not to go within two blocks of the clinic, at 1602 Twenty-first St., and that he is not to interfere with the employees of the clinic.

Rev. Arensen told the Press-Record in an interview Thursday that he does not "intend to break the probation" and pointed out that the day of the arrest was the only day that he had visited the clinic during 1980.

The priest contends that abortions are done at the clinic each week and is presently working on a Human Life amendment to the U.S. Constitution with legislators in Washington, D.C. He says that the amendment would outlaw abortions and any other taking of human life.

Those working on various versions of such an amendment hold that human life begins at fertilization and not at birth and that the fertilized egg has the same rights as all other humans, regardless of their age.

The selection of the jury and the trial lasted for less than three hours and the jury deliberating for only about six minutes before announcing

Rev. Arensen said that he thought that the jury's swiftness did not allow a reasonable amount of time for the study of the circumstances of the incident, nor his motives, which eventually led to his arrest.

The priest, who lives in Okawville, Ill., said that he has asked that his probation be transferred to Washington County in which Okawville is located. He added that he is anxious to return to Washington, D.C., to continue his Pro-Life work.

He said that the members of the national Pro-Life committee are confident that after the next national election in 1982 there would be enough support to pass a Human Life amendment in both houses of Congress.

High school costs

minimal effect because they involve fund transfers—"robbing Peter to pay Paul," as it was described during a board discussion.

One alternative could produce many new school dollars: "When there are insufficient funds in the operations, building and maintenance fund, the board may borrow (without voters' approval) by issuing bonds maturing within 20 years for fire prevention and life safety work."

Of the $3,445,700 projected building renovations on the district's wish list—$1,209,000 in 1981, $729,500 in 1982, $644,200 in 1983, $489,500 in 1984 and $372,500 in 1985—more than three-fourths could be defined as fire prevention or life safety tasks, administrators believe.

They list a total of $2,746,490 in this category, including $1,032,500 said to be essential this year, $520,000 next year, $505,400 in 1983, $348,500 the following year and $340,000 in 1985.

But many consider it doubtful that the district would resort to a bond issue that would be similar to the bond proposal which residents have collectively said they oppose.

Superintendent Bob J. Davis told the board Jan. 13 that "the closing of additional facilities would reduce costs. At the present time, however, our classroom-to-pupil ratio is not out of alignment."

Despite the brief nature of his reference to closings, board members "picked up the ball and ran with it," asking for a detailed look into whether further building shutdowns are feasible.

Liberty School no longer exists as a pupil attendance center. Neither does Central Junior High, or McKinley, or Washington, or Stallings. Whether more will be added to the list is unknown, but several structures have reached an age where some thought must be given to phasing them out. Any bond issue in effect would be an effort to balance the budget by increasing income rather than cutting costs.

If the other route to solvency is followed—slashing costs instead of raising income—laymen think it might involve one or more of the following:

—Shutting down Granite City High School North; all high school students would be served at Granite City High School South, along with partial use of Coolidge Junior High School (located on the South campus) by high school students.

—Closing one of the junior high schools—Coolidge, Grigsby or Prather.

—Converting North High into a junior high school center; it was designed as two adjacent schools, a junior high and an elementary school, with the plans later modified when it was decided to establish a second high school.

—North became a junior high, an option might be closing one or two of the existing junior high schools.

—Converting one of the present junior highs into an elementary school center, enabling one, two or three grade schools to be shut down.

—Closing down one or two grade schools while keeping the high schools and junior highs open.

—Drastically altering the way junior high schools and high schools are operated, including creating single district-wide year levels rather than the present dual teams.

As noted, these are laymen's ideas. Some or all might not work.

It is known that there is a continuing downturn in the projected secondary-level enrollment. Elementary pupils also have been drifting away, but some stabilization may occur in the number of grade school children during the early 1980s.

It is easy for laymen to speculate about building shutdowns, but only the school people—with detailed, year-to-year neighborhood population and student estimates—can know with much certainty which, if any, closings would be feasible.

If there are closings, attendance boundaries of various schools would have to be altered, a step sure to lead to howls of protest from many families. How traumatic a change can be ordered without the public rising up in unresolvable anger?

How badly do taxpayers and voters want the kind of school system they now have? They cannot have it all, unless they are willing to pay for it.

Creation of a second high school in September 1973 was praised as opening wider opportunities for students to participate and mature and excel and lead. Is that concept no longer popular or affordable? Almost anything is affordable if it is sufficiently popular.

Growth has not been occurring at the expected rate. Will that continue to be the case, or will there be a resurgence of economic activity, employment and construction in this community? If growth resumes, there will be a greater need for school facilities and a bigger tax base to pay for them.

What should be done in the meantime? Educators concede they don't have all the answers, but are convinced that many decisions have to be made rather quickly, that specific remedial steps cannot be avoided.

Closing an entire school building, along with its drawbacks, has many positive financial aspects. Operating costs, including utility bills, drop abruptly. It is no longer necessary to rent a building that isn't being used. Fewer employees of all kinds are required (salaries and fringe benefits remain a major element of school expenditures).

More bus transportation is necessary when fewer schools are operated. The state requires that transportation be available to boys and girls residing more than a mile and a half from the school to which they are assigned.

School bus service is costly, but this increased expenditure would be offset by a large margin if one or more buildings were closed.

If schools can be closed, which ones? Geography might dictate that School A be abandoned. But the relative age and condition might suggest that School B would be a better choice for padlocking.

A newer school is thought to be less costly to operate than an older building, although the air-conditioning at North High and Johnson Elementary School, two relatively new schools, is a cost factor to be evaluated.

It is all somewhat complex, and the debate on various alternatives may be extensive.

But some tangible action of a sweeping nature appears to be a "must" within the next several months.

County Mass Transit District include: Alton, Chouteau, Collinsville, Edwardsville, Godfrey, Granite City, Nameoki, Venice and Wood River. Townships included in the St. Clair County Mass Transit District are: Belleville, Canteen, Caseyville, Centerville, East St. Louis, Lebanon, Mascoutah, O'Fallon, Shiloh Valley, St. Clair, Sittles, Stokely, and Sugar Loaf. The areas affected in Monroe County include the cities of Columbia and Waterloo and road districts 5 and 6.

Transit Tax

St. Clair County Mass Transit District. A one-eighth of a percent mass transit district sales tax will be imposed in two municipalities and two road districts in Monroe County.

Ordinances imposing the taxes were passed this month by the three mass transit districts. The new taxes were authorized last year by the Illinois General Assembly to aid in funding mass transit. Areas affected within the three counties are those which were receiving bi-state transit service as of June 1, 1980.

Beginning Feb. 1, the tax is to be collected on all sales of tangible personal property made within the designated areas. In addition, area residents purchasing vehicles titled or registered by the state—including automobiles, trailers, motorcycles and aircraft—will be expected to pay the tax regardless of whether the purchase was made within or outside of the district. Title or license will not be issued by the state without proof that the tax was paid.

stage used for the rally.

McCollegan said he has the copyright for the Thumbs Up America logo, but said he is not attempting to make a profit on it, he just wants to see it promoted nation-wide to help keep alive the current feeling of patriotism over the release of the hostages.

He stressed that any local bank, business or organization wishing to make use of the Thumbs Up America theme or logo is welcome to do so free and he will assist them in any way he can to see that the idea is spread.

McCollegan said he hopes to hold more rallies in the near future and feature guest speakers who will impart a positive feeling of patriotism to the audiences. "I want to keep this feeling alive. I do not want to see it die," McCollegan concluded.

Byron named judge

Former Madison County state's attorney Nicholas G. Byron and Attorney Jonathan Isbell of Collinsville were named Thursday as the new associate judges in the Third Judicial Circuit of Madison and Bond counties.

The announcement was made by Chief Circuit Judge Horace Calvo. Byron and Isbell were selected by the circuit judges of the Third Judicial Circuit from among six candidates.

Others were Vahog Robert Matoesian of Granite City, Steve Maragides of Madison, former circuit judge Victor J. Mosele, who failed to win retention in the November general election, and Daniel Stack of Highland.

The two associate judge vacancies were created Dec. 12 when Judges George Moran Jr. of Granite City and Philip Rarick were elevated to circuit judges by the Illinois Supreme Court. Rarick filled the vacancy of Harold R. Clark, who accepted a job with the U.S. Social Security Administration in Peoria and Moran replaced Moses W. Harrison II, who was elected to the Fifth District Appellate Court in the November election.

Driver hurt in collision

Mrs. Iola Anderson, 39, of Edwardsville, sustained a minor injury at 7:50 a.m. Friday in the 1600 block of Fifth Street, Madison, when the vehicle she was driving west was struck by another car.

The collision occurred when an auto operated by Mrs. Sylvia Reeves, 1621 Fifth St., Madison, was leaving a ice-covered driveway. She was unable to stop the vehicle from entering the street and struck the side and bumper of Mrs. Anderson's car, the police report stated.

Art of North students included in SIUE show

Artworks by students at Granite City High School North are included in an art show at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville which opened yesterday.

Stronger defense is goal

A call for a stronger national defense was voiced here last week by Lieutenant General Thomas M. Ryan Jr., vice commander in chief of the Military Airlift Command, Scott Air Force Base, Belleville.

Introduced by Jim Livingston, program chairman at the Granite City Rotary luncheon, Gen. Ryan urged higher pay to retain skilled Defense Department personnel and called for provision of long-range combat airplanes to augment available missiles. While the U.S. has a large air fleet and also contracts to use part of the civilian passenger and freight aircraft, the nation has less than half of the planes it would need to move men and materials during a war, the speaker warned.

Treatment plans due for updating

Provision of secondary wastewater treatment for many Madison and St. Clair counties communities remains unresolved, and it was decided here Thursday night to proceed with updating of plans to meet the treatment requirement.

Use of the existing Granite City municipal treatment plant remains a strong possibility, although some of the officials expressed concern over the level of fees that might be charged.

Conferring with the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency and Metro-East Sanitary District at a meeting in the Madison Firemen's Hall were representatives of Madison, Venice, Fairmont City, National City, Caseyville, Granite City and Stites Township.

Options include linking with the sanitary district's Lansdowne plant, which already provides primary sewage treatment, developing treatment facilities at Sauget; or connecting some of the cities to the Granite City secondary plant.

The updating of 1977 plans is to be carried out by the sanitary district.

A discussion brought out that financing of treatment upgrading remains a problem for many of the municipalities and the district. The Lansdowne plant lacks secondary treatment equipment. Laws require treatment of water prior to discharge into the Mississippi River.

An Illinois EPA spokesman said it is hoped to avoid spending much time on planning, and instead to focus on efforts to apply potential grants to construction of facilities. Little or no additional construction would be required if the Granite City plant is utilized, other than the extension of sewer lines along the riverfront.

Hot Edwardsville catches Madison

By TOM SCHOCKER
of the Press-Record
EDWARDSVILLE — The Edwardsville High School gym was filled to capacity. It was standing room only. Usually, only a Collinsville-Edwardsville game draws that many fans. But here Saturday, the best small school power in the area, the Madison Trojans, took on a very strong Class AA Edwardsville Tiger team. It was a classic.

Bruce Dickmann's pair of free throws with two seconds left in the contest gave the Tigers (18-3) a 64-63 victory over Madison. It extended Edwardsville's winning streak to 11 games in a row. The longest for the Tigers since the 1973-74 season. The current streak includes victories over Class A powers Cairo, Okawville, Benton and Pinckneyville in the Benton Tournament — and now Madison.

Whereas Edwardsville's winning streak continues, the Trojans were stopped after 14 straight wins. And for Madison head coach Larry Graham, it was the first close ball game in a while. It could have been a problem for the Trojans.

"I think they (Madison) thought the game was too easy," said Graham. "We haven't had enough like this to see how we play in tight ball games. We really needed something like this, but we didn't need to lose."

The Trojans had no intentions of dropping the game. The Madison defense played a big role in opening up a comfortable early margin. It looked like the Trojans were going to go through the first half at the free throw line. It kept them in the ball game as they hit 19 out of 20 attempts. But for 3:23 the Tigers couldn't find the hoop in the second frame as Madison rolled off 11 unanswered points and a 37-23 lead.

The score was enough to indicate that the entire first half belonged to the Trojans. They handily out-rebounded the Trojans, they had a 10 point lead and they prevented Edwardsville's big gun, Paul Schaefer, from scoring. If not for Dickmann's 15 first half points, the Tigers might have been hurting.

Edwardsville never gave up on its big man, though. Patience paid off and the Tigers finally got Schaefer into their offense. "They (Madison) had us confused," said Tiger head coach Bud Vallino. "They would mix up their man and zone defenses. We adjusted to it in the second half. We knew we could score inside."

Schaefer went to work and changed the complexion of the game. It wasn't until the 3:50 mark of the third period that he converted his first points, but from then, it was all Edwardsville.

With 22 seconds left in the third quarter, Schaefer drilled in his tenth point of the period and brought the Tigers to within one. "They (Edwardsville) got the ball into Schaefer and he got his confidence built up," said Graham. "I felt we kind of gave the game away. Even though we offered, they didn't have to take it."

Edwardsville gladly accepted Madison's offer. The momentum and rebounding totals did a flip-flop. "If Madison was going to beat us, it was going to be (Kerwin) Stanley and (Pat) Hatter that was going to do it," said Vallino. "We had to stop (Morris) Hughes inside and we prepared for it all week."

The Tiger's preparation paid off as Hughes' 12 first half tallies was cut to five in the second 16 minutes as he fouled out in the fourth quarter. In fact, it was Hughes' fifth foul that sent Dickmann to the line for the Tigers in the waning moments. Hughes totaled 17 points for Madison.

In the home stretch, though, it was the combination of Dickmann and Schaefer that propelled the Tigers to within striking range. Schaefer put together a remarkable second half performance that netted him with 13 points and seven rebounds. Dickmann's final two charity tosses pushed his game total to 21 as he led the Tigers.

"It showed a lot of character from us (Edwardsville), to come back," said Vallino. "I don't care how much they are totals, they'll never give up. But Madison is a very good team. They are the toughest small school we have played this season. That includes the Benton Tournament."

Where the Trojans were so deadly in the first half from the free throw, it was from there they had their down fall. Hatter had a chance to put Madison up by four with 37 seconds left, but missed one and Stanley had the opportunity to increase the Trojans lead to five and missed. This happened with just 11 seconds on the clock.

"Last year Stanley made those type of free throws," said Graham. "He didn't choke, he just missed." Madison still connected on 21 out of 25 from the charity stripe for an 84 percent. Hatter hit eight out of 10 from there and led Madison with 20 points.

"I hope we're not happy with ourselves," said Graham. "I don't want us to be. You win some and lose some. If we are a championship team, we'll come back."

GET OFF MY BACK! Edwardsville's Brad Opel (35) comes down on the shoulders of Madison's Mark Zar Saturday night in his team's one-point squeaker over the Trojans. On the floor

Fernandez is named Parade All-America soccer

GRANITE CITY — As reported last month by the Press-Record, Granite City South's David Fernandez was named to the 1981 Parade Magazine All-America team. The team was announced in yesterday's Parade Magazine, featured in the Sunday editions of newspapers all over the United States.

Fernandez, who was also named to the 1981 United States Soccer Coaches Association All-American Team and made last season's Parade Team, was voted the fourth-best forward in the country.

Fernandez, a senior, led Granite City South to four straight state championships during his career at the school. The past season may have been the sweetest for him. In addition to winning the state championship, Fernandez's team also won the championship of the prestigious Catholic Youth Council (CYC) Tournament in St. Louis and defeated the eventual Missouri state champion (Vianney I-O) and the eventual Indiana state champion (Evansville Reitz 3-1).

Fernandez was drafted in December by the San Diego Sockers of the North American Soccer League. While he has not yet announced his future plans, it is expected that Fernandez will not turn professional at this point, but opt for one of the hundreds of colleges that have expressed interest in recruiting him. According to sources, Fernandez has narrowed his college choices to three schools, the names of which have not been learned.

The 5-8 Fernandez wasn't the only area player picked to the Parade All-American Team. Leading the pack was Pat Baker of Riverview Gardens, who was voted the best goalie in the country and appears headed for a career at St. Louis University. He is the cousin of Fernandez's high school coach, Gene Baker.

Other St. Louis area players chosen were Dan Malloy of Hazelwood Central, Dave Boineck of St. Mary's Prep, Chris Hundelt of Rosary, Mike Hylla of Vianney, Mike Menendez and Daryl Dornan of C.B.C.

Den Altepeter and Roy Stanley of St. Louis University High. Also named to the squad was Bill Veith of Evansville, Ind. Reitz.

Mascoutah routs Warriors

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Has the Granite City South basketball team already peaked? Warrior coach Don Deterding might think so after watching his team drop an 83-57 non-conference decision here Saturday night to Mascoutah. The loss came on the heels of consecutive losses to Belleville Althoff and Triad (St. Jacob) after the Warriors had upset Alton by five a week ago Friday.

"We stunk up the place," said Deterding. "In fact, this was probably our worst game since the Mount Vernon Tournament." South lost three straight games at Mount Vernon to start the season during the Thanksgiving break.

As of late, South's losses have been because of a lack of defense — something different from the usual Deterding-coached teams. "We didn't have any defense at all," he said. "It was nonexistent."

The Warriors did something else a little different against the Indians. They didn't get out to an early lead and then proceeded to blow it. They trailed Mascoutah from the outset.

South shot well against Mascoutah — but just not well enough. The Warriors shot a respectable 53 percent for the game. But Mascoutah was 31 out of 46 from the floor for a sizzling 67 percent. Most of South's hot shooting came in the fourth quarter, however, when it was too late to do anything about the deficit. The Warriors trailed 16-10 at the end of the first quarter, 36-23 at halftime and 39-36 at the end of the fourth quarter. They outscored the Indians 29-24 in the fourth quarter.

"We didn't wake up until the fourth quarter," said Deterding. "Before then, we were very, very flat."

"We were about a half-second behind all night on everything."

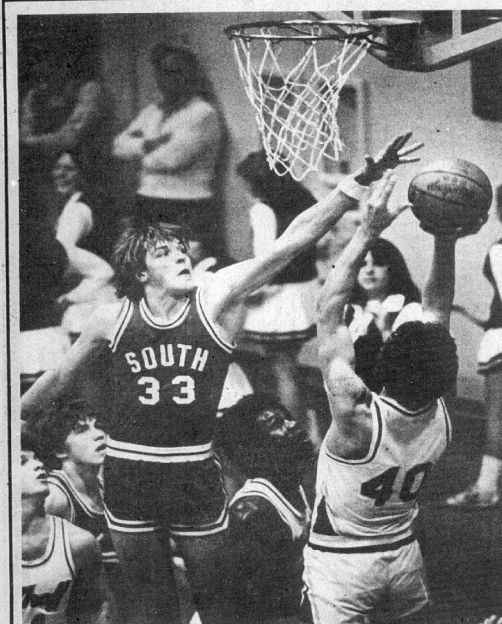

South's record falls to 5-12 on the season. "Going into this weekend, we felt we could win both games," Deterding said.

"But at least, we thought we should come out with one win. Instead, we lose both. "I'll tell you this," he said. "I'm changing things around on defense. I won't say what it will be, but this son-of-a-buck won't get those rebounds any more."

"We may have reached our peak," said Deterding. "We were going for three hours each practice early in the season. I've never practiced that long before. We felt we had to get some wins early. We didn't. Then we finally started coming around."

Mascoutah came out in the third quarter and (Continued on Page 9).

Kahoks pull upset on West

Special to the Press-Record

COLLINSVILLE — The Collinsville Kahoks used three new starters here Saturday night and it paid off. They upset Belleville West 61-57 for their first Southwestern Conference win of the season.

The victory upped Collinsville's record to 9-10 overall and 1-4 in the SWC.

In other action Saturday night, East St. Louis beat Belleville East 85-60. Edwardsville edged Madison 64-63 (see related story). Belleville Althoff picked up a non-conference victory 97-80 over Lebanon and Breese Mater Dei beat Triad (St. Jacob) 67-58.

In Collinsville's victory over West, the Kahoks showed that if anybody's wanting to kick them while they're down, they'd better hurry up. Because the future looks mighty bright.

Freshman Michael Hunter made his first start of the season for Collinsville and thrilled the crowd with jump shots, drives and passes extraordinary. The 6-2 Hunter started the season on the freshman team. He was then placed on the sophomore team. Then the junior varsity team. It took him a little over half the season to make it to the varsity starting five.

Hunter finished the game with 12 points before fouling out to a standing ovation with 4:42 remaining in the game. "He's dominated play at every level we've had him this season," said Collinsville head coach Gene Catapa. "It takes him a couple game to get comfortable with the other players."

Obviously, Hunter was comfortable against the Maroons.

Also seeing starting roles for the first times

Saturday were sophomore Marc Parker and 6-4 junior forward Marvin Korinek. They joined 6-10 Jim McMonkey and Mare's older brother Kent Parker.

Kent Parker led the Kahoks with 26 points. He scored 17 of them in the first half, mostly on layups and free throws for three-point plays. Hunter scored eight points in the first half.

Belleville West did all it could to aid the Kahoks. They didn't score until a little over three minutes remained in the first quarter.

Collinsville held a 42-32 lead with 1:52 remaining in the third quarter. But back came the Maroons. They closed it to 50-48 with 2:35 remaining in the game. With a minute left, it was 53-52, Collinsville.

The final minute took about five minutes to play. But finally, after eight Collinsville free throws and five points by West, it was over. Two free throws by Collinsville's Jay Leskera tied the victory for his team. With the loss, West fell to 10-8 overall and 4-2 in conference play.

South girls shoot poorly but still win

ROXANA — When your team shoots a lowly 24 percent from the floor and still manages to win the game, things are obviously going your way. That's what the Granite City South girls basketball team did in its 41-
 28 victory over Roxana here
 Thursday.

However, Warrior head coach Gary Morgan isn't exactly dishing out the praises, even though his girls ended their season record to 6-0. "It was a very disappointing game," said Morgan. "We hit only 17 shots in 71 attempts. The boys' gym was being used and we had to play in another one. The rims were loose and it really messed us up. We just couldn't shoot on them."

It took a while for the Warriors offense to crank up, but in the meantime their defense was more than sufficient. "We emphasize offense, but if it's not there, the defense will make up for it," said Morgan. "We really haven't been tested yet and that worries me. I think we'll have a hard time stopping balance scoring."

The Shells had seven girls put the ball in the hoop, but only one corralled enough for double figures. The Warriors countered their inability to score by taking the ball inside.

South's leading scorer,
 Chris Boyd with 14, had just two after one quarter. "We tried to get people in close,"
 said Morgan. "Boyd had to penetrate in to get a close shot."

While no one else could find the outside touch, Nita Graham continued her fine shooting. "I think she's one of the best outside shooters
 in the area," said Morgan.
 "It's just a matter of getting her to shoot." Graham didn't have any second thoughts against Roxana. She followed Boyd in scoring with 10.

Madison rolls past hapless Steelers 90-45

GRANITE CITY — After watching Granite City North jumpstart to a surprising 17-14 lead at the end of the first quarter, Madison's Trojans roared to an easy 90-45 victory over the Steelers in non-conference action Friday at North.

The Steelers, who saw their record fall to 0-18, actually held a 9-3 lead early in the game. But the first quarter heroics were all that managed. The Trojans woke up, took a look at the scoreboard, and things proceeded "BAU" — Business As Usual.

"I think we took them too lightly," said Madison head coach Larry Graham. "Our defense didn't apply pressure on the wings and that let them (North) set up and hit the open shots."

"You've got to hand it to North," said Graham. "They hustled all night. If they'd scored more in the second quarter, they might have stayed in the game."

The game was Madison's first in North's "new" gymnasium, which opened last season. "We didn't know what to expect here," said Graham. "That might have had something to do with the way we played in the first quarter."

Granite City North coach Bill Ohlendorf used to dish out quite a few losses to Graham-coached Madison teams when he was head coach at Venice. But things are different now. "We played well, though," said Ohlendorf. "In the first quarter we got them (Madison) a little excited. But when they tightened up, our execution wasn't very good and that was the ball game. We knew it would be an uphill struggle against Madison."

North didn't exactly burn the nets up. The Steelers were a dismal 16 of 45 from the floor for 36 percent. Madison, on the other hand, was a sizzling 38 of 64 from the floor for 61 percent.

Turnovers were just about even, surprisingly. Madison committed 17 turnovers, while North committed only 15 against the Trojans' tough defense.

Patrick Hatter led the Trojans in scoring with 23 points. Morris Hughes contributed 16 points to the cause, mostly on rebounds or second shots after getting the offensive rebound.

Charles Claggett had 14 for Madison. Granite City North was led by Carl Luehmann and Harold Rody who each scored 12 points.

The next action for North will be Friday at Belleville East. Madison will host East St. Louis Friday.

LOOKING IT IN. Granite City South's Ken McManus (13) watches his shot go through the basket as he hits the floor Friday against Belleville Althoff. McManus was fouled and completed the three-point play. He scored 30 points for the Warriors, but it wasn't enough as Althoff handed South a Gateway East Conference loss.

Lincoln rolls past Venice

EAST ST. LOUIS — The East St. Louis Lincoln Tigers lived up to their number-one ranking in the Press-Record Class AA Coaches' Poll Friday night with an easy 89-59 victory over Venice.

Venice appeared to be able to hold its own with the Tigers early in the game, when the Red Devils ran out to a 12-9 lead. The famed Lincoln man-to-man full court press was giving them little trouble. But at the end of the first quarter, it was an 18-12 Lincoln lead. By halftime, it was 37-21 in favor of Lincoln. Venice was led by Wise with 16 points. Williams Watts had 15. Lincoln's Tigers were paced by Porter's 29 points. Jackson had 19 and Wilson 13. The victory raised Lincoln to 16-2, while Venice dropped to 7-10.

Grigsby cagers win

GRANITE CITY — The Grigsby Junior High seventh grade dropped a close contest to Madison Junior High, 26-25, Thursday. Grigsby trailed at the end of the first quarter, 6-4, but came back to lead at halftime 10-9. At the end of the third quarter, Madison lead 23-17. Grigsby outscored Madison 8-3 in the fourth quarter, but fell short. Mark Bowen led the team with 10

Althoff overcomes McManus, Warriors

By TOM SCHOCKER
of the Press-Record

BELLEVILLE — Ken McManus is a quiet type of basketball player. The forward on the Granite City South basketball team just goes out and does his job. But, every once in a while, he lets loose. Like the performance he gave against Belleville Althoff here Friday.

The word was hot for McManus from the opening tip as he drilled in a season-high 30 points. It just wasn't enough, though. The Warriors were forced to play catch-up with the Crusaders and never caught them, as they lost a Gateway East Conference game 79-74.

South had two battles to contend with. Althoff was hard enough, but it also had to combat the flu. It had already struck Joe Schnefke, who gave up his starting position to Tom Tracy and it was nipping at a few other Warrior players.

"I don't want to use the flu as an excuse," said South head coach Don Deterding. "It just seems like the intensity wasn't there." The Warriors were managing to win both wars and threatened to blow the game wide open.

McManus sizzled from the floor as he fired in his first five shots in a row. South was looking tough, too. It reeled off two streaks of 10 and eight unanswered points to take a commanding 26-13 first quarter lead.

Just as easily as South put up the points, so did Althoff. The Warriors did a complete about-face and clamed up for the next three minutes. That's all it took for the momentary lead to swing to the Crusaders.

Althoff sent up a counter-attack with Steve Hill. Missing only one shot, Hill racked up 12 of Althoff's 24 second quarter points. His crushing slam dunk gave the Crusaders the lead for the first time and they held on to it at the half. South scored just nine tallies in the period.

"We were playing a different defense, because Schnefke wasn't in there," said Deterding. "We had different responsibilities and we lost our concentration."

Hill kept the Warriors in a daze as he ate them up from the inside until he equaled McManus' output of 30 tallies. "We have always had trouble stopping the big guys," said Deterding. "It's happened all year."

Whatever South did, the ball seemed to end up in Hill's or some other Althoff player's hands for a score. "Very few teams can play an entire game with the same intensity," said Deterding. "I really can't explain that third quarter. The ball just went their way."

It wasn't until late in the fourth stanza that South made one final run at the lead. Eric Waltenberger tallied 13 before fouling out. McManus headed — the charge, but the Warriors couldn't get any closer than four points. Waltenberger tallied 13 before fouling out. Lady Kahoks crush North Steelerettes COLLINSVILLE — The score is all that can be said. The Collinsville Lady Kahoks reaffirmed their seven place ranking in the P-R Girls Basketball Poll with a resounding 55-18 victory over Granite City North here Thursday.

It was a turn-around for the Steelers, who just gave the Edwardsville Tigers all they could handle a few nights ago. "I thought we were playing half-way decent basketball at one time," said North head coach Harry Cook. "I don't know what the problem was. Maybe it was a let-down. Your guess is as good as mine."

Collinsville had matters well in hand allowing North to nine points in three quarters. The only period the Steelers had any success was the final frame when they outscored the Kahoks and double their own team count. But, by then Collinsville was ahead 48-9.

"Our point guard, Paula French, was sick and out of school the last two days," said Cook. "All I know is that weren't ready to play basketball. Maybe, because of school being out Thursday, I just don't know."

Kim Fountain provided the only spark of offense for the Steelers as she totaled 10 points. Ann Price led the Kahok charge with 18, followed by Karen Hollabach at 12 and Janet Fraundorf with 10.

Mascoutah

proceeded to make 13 of 15 field goal attempts.

Just a little over week ago, South played its best game of the season in its 80-75 upset victory over Alton, a team with wins over East St. Louis and Collinsville. Now the coach is talking about one of the worst efforts of the season.

Will the REAL Granite South basketball team stand up?

"We're not even practicing Monday," said Deterding. "I told them to take the day off. Don't think about basketball. Maybe I've been driving them too hard."

Mascoutah used the one-two punch of seniors Mark Dodds and Rob Thomas. The two combined for 59 points. Dodds scored 32 points, while Thomas pumped in 27.

"We knew we had to watch Thomas," said Deterding. "We figured he'd be hard to stop. But Dodds just killed us."

Dodds, a 6-2 forward, was 10 of 11 from the free throw line. The Indians out-rebounded the Warriors 33-26. "Rebounding has hurt us all year," said Deterding. "We didn't do too bad against Mascoutah, but against Althoff, that's what beat us."

South placed three players in double figures. George Sykes had 18 points, Eric Waltenberger had 17 and Ken McManus, after a 30-point outburst Friday at Althoff, scored 16. "Kenny's really playing good basketball for us," said Deterding. "He's strong at both end of the floor."

South now gears for its next game Friday at Collinsville. And it's one Deterding wants. A former All-Stater for Collinsville, Deterding has only beaten the Kahoks five times since coming to Granite City 12 years ago from Effingham. The last time a Deterding-coached team beat Collinsville was the 1971-1972 season when Terry Ripka and the then-Granite City High Warriors rolled into the State Tournament.

Income limits for supplemental food

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has set maximum income limits for people who participate in the special supplemental food program for women, infants and children (WIC).

Previously, each state set its own income limits and no limit was prescribed by the USDA.

Under the final rules, states must set a maximum gross income limit for a family of four that is no higher than $15,490 and no lower than $7,450 a year. The maximum income is determined by calculating 195 percent of the official U.S. government poverty line, plus a current standard deduction of $80 per month.

The Omnibus Reconciliation Act, passed in December, established this as the maximum income limit for the WIC program. The minimum income limit is equal to the poverty line. State agencies will be allowed to use state or local income eligibility standards as the income limits for their WIC programs, as long as these do not exceed or fall below the USDA limits.

This flexibility is intended to allow participating health clinics to use the same income standards for WIC that they use in health care programs they may operate for low-income women, infants and children. This is intended to foster administrative efficiency and reduce paperwork, a spokesman said.

The WIC program provides supplemental foods, nutrition, education and health care to 2.2 million low income women, infants and children up to age five, determined to be at risk because of inadequate diet or inadequate health care. Women participating in the program must be pregnant or breastfeeding or must have recently given birth.

BPW names Miss Crockarell new Young Career Woman

by DONNA KIMBRO of the Press-Record

"A New Decade—A New Adventure" was the theme of the 1980-81 Young Career Women competition, sponsored by the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club at its January dinner meeting, held at the Super Club of the Granite City Army Installation.

Miss Patricia Crockarell, an administrative assistant and social worker at Parkside Towers Nursing Home in St. Louis, was selected winner of this year's award.

She will deliver her award-winning speech at the BPW District 14 speak-out affair, scheduled for Sunday, Feb. 22, at Michael's Restaurant in Highland.

The winner at the district level will advance to state competition at the Illinois Business and Professional Women's convention in April in Chicago.

Serving as judges for the evening contest were Linda MacDonald from the Eden Retirement Center, Edwardsville, Bob Bruker, of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, School of Education and Mrs. Margaret Lee, representing The First National Bank in Madison.

Mrs. Rosalie Stern, president of the Granite City

Club, and Mrs. Paula Case, chairman of the Young Career Women's competition, presented Miss Crockarell with a $50 U.S. Savings Bond following the announcement of the winner by the judges.

First runner-up for the Young Career Woman title was Janet Stern, a registered nurse employed with the St. Louis Visiting Nurse Association.

Miss Crockarell resides in Granite City and is a graduate of Collinsville High School. She also graduated from Evangel College in Springfield, Mo., where she received a Bachelor of Science degree with a double major in psychology and sociology.

She also earned a Nursing Home and Administrative license from the University of Missouri at Columbia and is a Certified Emergency Medical Technician (EMT), having received training in that field at Bellevue Area College.

Miss Crockarell is a member of City Temple Assembly of God Church and is an alumni member of the board of directors of Evangel College.

As a member of the Granite City BPW Club, she serves as the club's public relation chairman and is a board member of the organization.

PATRICIA CROCKARELL, captured first place in the 1980-81 Young Career Women contest, sponsored by the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club.

Parish programs at St. Elizabeth

Father Henry Schmidt, pastor of St. Elizabeth Church, gave the opening prayer at a meeting of the Ladies Sodality and announced the parish will host a five day mission beginning Feb. 8 to continue each evening.

President Pat Loftus introduced Elizabeth Schmidt of Creative Expressions, who was a guest for the evening.

Mrs. Loftus presented gifts to Mrs. Pam Ames, the retiring president, and to Mrs. Joan Achenbach, the retiring secretary.

Special events include a parish skiing party set for Feb. 5 at 6 p.m. at the Stardust Skating Rink, and the annual parish picnic tentatively scheduled for June 13 and 14.

Mrs. Margaret Groboski, co-chairman of the Christmas bazaar, reported on various booth chairmen and added workshop sessions are being held each Wednesday morning at the school in preparation of the winter fund raising project.

First grade mothers served as hostesses after the business discussions. Quilt of the month winner was Patrick Becker and the madonna prize went to Dorothy Votoupal and evening award was presented to Mrs. Schmidt.

BPW to elect officers

Ruth Milhouser, Becky Slate, Helene Bischoff, Pauline Weir and Carolyn Frye were selected to serve on the nominating committee of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club, at the January meeting held in the Super Club of the Granite City Army Installation.

Mrs. Rosalie Stern, club president, conducted the business segment and announced the election of new officers will be held March 18 at the Madison Recreation Center.

The next meeting is to follow the theme of International Week with each member attending to provide a foreign dish for the pot luck dinner on Feb. 18 at the Madison Recreation Center.

The membership committee is planning a "lady rally" for the February session and are requesting each member pay their 1981 dues that evening, the president explained.

Paula Case introduced a new program designed to promote career awareness for 35 high school girls currently enrolled in career education classes at both Granite City High Schools.

The goal of the new concept is to give young women an opportunity to become aware of the many varied career and occupational fields available to them; allow young women to directly interact with professionals currently working in the girls desired occupational field in order to receive information and determine what their chosen careers are really like.

Also, guide young women in their decision-making process to wiser and more realistic occupational goals; and to encourage young women to determine the educational programs necessary to enable them to achieve their career goals and to find out where the appropriate educational opportunities are available to them.

To promote this project the 35 high school students will visit Tri-City area businesses from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. Thursday, Feb. 5, to observe the type of activities involved in the professional's work.

They also will discuss with them, opportunities in their field, determine educational requirements for the position and, most importantly, have the chance to evaluate a career from working and talking with an adult currently engaged in that field, Mrs. Case added.

Mrs. Johnson is chapter sweetheart

The Nu Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, held their ninth meeting in the home of Marcie Johnson. Mrs. Johnson was chosen as the chapter sweetheart and will represent the chapter at the annual Sweetheart Dance in Mt. Vernon, on Feb. 14.

It was reported the Christmas basket had been delivered. Rose bud names were exchanged for the coming year. Those attending were Carol Moerlen, Betty Thomas, Cheryl Barton, Debbie Brown and Leoma Macek.

The last meeting of the Nu Zeta Chapter was held in the home of Cheryl Barton. Prior to the business meeting a prayer of thanks was said for the return of the hostages.

It was noted that a City Council meeting will be held today. Plans were made to attend the Alton-Wood River Area Convention on April 5. A white elephant sale will be held at the next meeting.

Those attending were Betty Thomas, Debbie Brown, Marcie Johnson, Leoma Macek and Carol Moerlen.

A social was held last week when members and guests met for an evening of games and later went out for refreshments.

The Regent is not for sale but you'll be delighted with our collection of equally lovely diamonds. Stop in and see them.

Pack 19 holds annual 'derby'

Thirty-four model cars were entered in Cub Pack 19's annual "Pinewood Derby" event held last week at Logan School.

Assistant Cubmaster Bob Braunmeier supervised the race, with Vicki Siers and Barba Varadian serving as judges.

The pack meeting, under the direction of Mrs. Varadian, hygienic and representative, was opened with the Pledge of Allegiance and Cub Scout Oath.

Planners announced for the traditional Blue and Gold Banquet, scheduled to take place Feb. 24 in the Logan School gymnasium.

The educational project was held in lieu of the January pack meeting, according to Allen Taylor, Cubmaster.

Taylor announced the annual blue and gold banquet is set for Feb. 19 and reservations must be made no later than Thursday, Feb. 5.

The pack will sponsor a chili supper on Feb. 28 at the school cafeteria, Taylor added.

State scholarship funds running low

College students planning to seek or renew Illinois State Scholarship Commission awards for the 1981-82 academic year are being urged to do so immediately by John Jannett, director of SIUE Student Work and Financial Assistance.

Students waiting too long to apply for the monetary awards may find ISSC funds exhausted, Jannett said. Funds for the awards were depleted last year long before the application deadline was reached, and the situation appears more critical this year, he added.

The Board of Higher Education has recommended a lower level of funding for the fiscal 1982 award program than was originally requested, because of tight financial conditions faced by the state. A "rationing" plan will be utilized in distributing the scholarships.

Jannett said Illinois residents who expect to attend SIUE in 1981-82 should apply for ISSC awards now. It is also a good time to apply for other scholarship, loan or grant programs, he noted.

Applications for a number of financial assistance programs are available in the Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance, 692-3880. ISSC applications are also available at high school counseling offices.

Ticket deadline for Scout dinner

Today is the deadline for purchasing tickets to the 31st annual Scouters Recognition dinner, planned for Saturday, Feb. 7, at the American Legion Hall in Edwardsville.

Tickets are $5.50 each and may be obtained from the Scout Service Center, 2016 Delmar Ave., or from Robert Moske, Gene Sternberg, David Nolan, Ron Luebber, Fred Mercer, Leroy Stark, Pat Foote, Richard Spillers of Paul Mihalich, district scout chairman.

The event will begin at 6:30 p.m. Saturday. Numerous awards will be given to deserving scout leaders, including three Silver Beaver Awards, the highest award a council can bestow on an adult volunteer.

Chilling thoughts about cold weather prompt this advice

(American Medical Association)

Ever get so cold it actually hurts?

Sure. Most of us have been "chilled to the bone" now and then out of doors in mid-winter.

Mostly, this does no lasting harm. A few minutes inside warms up the body and all is well again.

But severe overexposure to the cold (hypothermia) is a serious health problem. There isn't much the first-aid can do to treat hypothermia. Bring the victim into a warm room as soon as possible.

Remove wet clothes and wrap him in blankets. Add additional covering as available. Get medical attention as quickly as possible.

The American Medical Association's Handbook of First Aid and Emergency Care points out that chilling occurs when there is decreased blood circulation to the body surface, due to narrowing of the blood vessels in the skin from the cold.

Muscles in the body also contract.

Shivering and shaking associated with chills produce heat in the body, thus allowing the body temperature to rise.

Do not use hot water bottles or heating pads to speed warming of the sufferer.

Warm drinks and liquids such as tea or hot soup are helpful, if the victim is not nauseated.

Frostbite appears as greyish or whitish patches on exposed flesh, usually the nose, cheeks or ears.

Fingers and toes also are special frostbite targets. Frostbite is similar to a burn in its effect on the body.

Warming of the frozen part and a quick trip to the doctor or hospital are important.

Do not follow the long discredited treatment of rubbing snow on the frozen flesh. This only delays thawing and makes the damage worse.

Research center may uncover clues to many health problems

Work in the developing Center for Research in the Biology of Periodontal Diseases, College of Dentistry, University of Illinois at the Medical Center, Chicago, may lead investigators to a better understanding—and, perhaps, treatment—of a wide range of common health problems and life-threatening diseases such as cancer, arthritis, psoriasis, multiple myeloma and heart and genetic diseases.

Affecting 70 to 90 percent of all adults, periodontal diseases (commonly called pyorrhea) is an inflammatory condition caused by bacteria that colonize in the tissues of the mouth, resulting in bone destruction and eventual loss of teeth.

Although not life threatening, it is the leading cause of tooth loss in persons over age 35, costing the country "billions of dollars in treatment, time away from the job, aggravation, and inability to eat properly and nutritiously," says Donald A. Chambers, Ph.D., director of the center and professor of molecular biology and biological chemistry.

He added that periodontal diseases "have factors in common with other diseases. This commonality of pathogenic (disease-causing) mechanisms suggests that periodontal diseases can be used as models for understanding other conditions, such as systemic bone disease, inflammatory disease, diseases of cell proliferation, defects in host response mechanisms, and genetic diseases."

Currently, an estimated 30 center research projects are under way in five program areas: —Mechanisms of host-microbial interactions. "Many bacterial diseases are caused by the same kind of anaerobic microbes (bacterial diseases are caused by the same kind of anaerobic microbes (bacteria that live without oxygen) as in periodontal disease," Dr. Chambers explained.

"If we can learn how these bacteria colonize in a person's mouth and how to prevent that colonization, we may better understand how to treat, for example, subacute bacterial endocarditis, a critical infection of the heart valves."

—Nature of inflammation. Researchers are examining cyclic nucleotides and prostaglandins (fatty acids that affect the action of certain hormones) to determine how they change and how they change cells to affect an inflammatory response.

—The nature of cell proliferation and differentiation.

For example, investigators in the center are collaborating with the Department of Dermatology at the University of Utah on a study of psoriasis that involves transplants of psoriatic skin on immunologically deficient mice to see how the skin grows, as well as to determine what drugs might be used to treat it.

This same study has also led investigators to the discovery that the immunologically deficient mice are not as susceptible to cancer-causing agents as the environment as are normal mice.

—Mechanisms of bone development (osteogenesis) and bone destruction (osteoporosis).

—Under study is the osteoclast activating factor, which is produced by lymphocytes and leads to bone resorption (loss). Such bone loss or demineralization is most commonly seen in the aged.

In addition, spontaneous breaks or collapse of bones in multiple myeloma, which involves abnormal lymphocytes, may relate to the presence of large amounts of the osteoclast activating factor.

Also being examined are changes in fluids around the teeth that result in bone decay. "These fluid changes may or may not be unique to teeth," Dr. Chambers said.

"Problems occur when the equilibrium between bone decay and re-growth is upset," he continued. "When a person breaks a bone, the bone usually repairs itself. We are trying to understand that ability to repair."

"The treatment for periodontal disease is currently aimed at arresting the disease, but we don't repair the bone already lost. We want to find out if such repair or replacement is possible."

—Nature of blood, platelet aggregation.

"Platelets release a substance that aids in tissue repair, growth and wound healing. We are studying the symptoms of periodontal disease as bleeding gums. Also, abnormal platelet aggregation can cause blood clots, which lead to heart attacks."

The developing periodontal research center, located in the College of Dentistry, has drawn faculty members from throughout the University of Illinois medical campus.

Participating in the work of the center have been members of the departments of biochemistry, microbiology, medicine, surgery, dermatology, oral anatomy, histology, oral pathology, oral surgery, orthodontics, pediatrics, dentistry and periodontics.

In addition, collaborations have been established between the Medical Center campus and institutions throughout the country, including the National Institutes of Health, University of Michigan, University of California at San Francisco, University of California at Riverside, Harvard University, Cornell University, Vanderbilt University and the University of Utah.

To help provide "peer review of the highest quality" to the center, a 12-member national scientific advisory committee has been formed. The elite group of scientists will act as consultants to the center director and members.

This committee is expected to meet annually to assess and discuss the programs of the periodontal research center.

Dr. Chambers emphasized that the center is not a "closed community. We want to build alliances with as many people as we can on this campus and at other institutions, and supply an environment in which researchers can follow their curiosity within the defined program areas."

"Ultimately, we want to see all levels of researchers—students, graduates, postgraduates, clinicians and basic scientists—studying bioregulation."

Establishment of the periodontal research center began in the fall of 1978 under the leadership of Dr. Seymour Yale, dean of the U. of I. College of Dentistry.

Campaign goal of the center is to attract $1 million in private contributions. So far, donations from alumni and friends of the University of Illinois and the College of Dentistry total more than $500,000.

Record year in 1980 for aluminum recycling

Southern Illinois and St. Louis area residents recycled more aluminum cans and other household aluminum last year than at any time in their history, S. B. Thompson, district manager, Reynolds Aluminum Recycling Company, has reported. Area residents turned in a record 2,750,000 pounds of aluminum, 20 percent more than was redeemed in 1979. The residents received nearly $750,000 for their recycling efforts.

Reynolds operates ten Missouri mobile unit stops in the St. Louis area and three stops in southern Illinois, in Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center, Nameoki and Pontoon roads, every Friday from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m.

The firm pays 30 cents per pound for all-aluminum cans and other clean household aluminum products.

This price includes the national price of 23 cents per pound plus a seven-cent bonus. The bonus is subject to change or withdrawal without notice, depending on local market conditions.

The Reynolds Metals Company subsidiary pays for all-aluminum beverage cans and other household aluminum products such as pie plates, foil, frozen food and dinner trays, and dip, pudding and meat containers.

Reynolds also buys other aluminum items, such as siding, gutters, storm door and window frames, and lawn furniture tubing, which must be cut to lengths not exceeding three feet and bunched.

Aluminum castings, including pots and pans, power lawnmower housings and barbecue grills, are also purchased and recycled.

A recycling collection point is in operation in the Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center, Nameoki and Pontoon roads, every Friday from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Limit sought on lending by government

Senator Charles H. Percy (R-Ill.) last week introduced legislation to control lending by the federal government, as a way to reduce both the budget deficit and interest rates.

The Federal Lending Control Act of 1981 would place federal lending under the same restrictions now applied to spending in the Congressional budget process.

Sen. Percy said loans and guarantees will add $22 billion to the federal deficit this fiscal year. Such "off-budget" spending does not appear anywhere in the budget and is increasing at a faster rate than federal spending.

In 1970, new net federal loans and guarantees totaled $11 billion. By 1980, new net lending had reached $56.7 billion, a 400 percent increase, Percy said. In the same period, overall federal spending increased 300 percent.

Most U.S. governmental lending is financed by the Federal Financing Bank to such recipients as the Postal Service Fund and the Synthetic Fuels Corporation.

Percy said federal lending also is a major source of higher interest rates because the government borrows a growing amount of private capital, thus competing with borrowers in the private sector.

"All of this federal activity does not go unnoticed in the economy," the senator said. "It has its impact by making private credit more expensive."

Percy's bill would require Congress to set limits on federal lending as part of the budget Reform Act of 1974. Federal loans and guarantees would be subjected to the same system of ceilings and targets now applied under the Act to federal spending.

Burglary-arson prison sentence

Kevin Cathers, 18, of 1507 Market St., Madison, was sentenced in late January to prison terms of three and a half years for Granite City arson and burglary Nov. 10.

Circuit Judge Philip J. Rarick presided.

A break-in occurred at the Dorothy Tayon residence, 1635 Edison Ave., and there was $17,000 damage from a fire allegedly started by the intruders to destroy evidence of the burglary.

Four persons were arrested initially and fifth was sought. Three of the five were juveniles.

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE

Intent to Reclassify Portions of Madison, St. Clair and Monroe Counties From Air Quality Class II to Class III

A recently completed environmental study of Madison, Monroe and St. Clair Counties shows that a large portion of those counties is eligible for reclassification from Class II to Class III under the Clean Air Act's provisions for Prevention of Significant Deterioration.

A public hearing on this proposed reclassification is scheduled for March 2, 1981, Collinsville City Clerk's Office, 125 South Center Street, Collinsville, Illinois, 9:30 a.m. Persons testifying at the hearing should be prepared to limit their oral remarks to ten minutes in the event a large number of persons request an opportunity to speak. Comments on the proposed reclassification will be accepted up until March 9, 1981.

Following the close of the comment period, the Illinois EPA will provide a summary of the hearing record to local elected officials in the study area. All reclassification proposals must first be approved by local officials representing the majority of residents in the area to be reclassified. If the change is endorsed by local officials, then the issue is raised to the Governor for final disposition.

A copy of the environmental assessment of the proposed reclassification has been sent to the following locations for public review:

GRECIAN ARCHITECT. Mike Brazel, 11, a sixth-grade student at Emerson School, studies a scale model of the Greek Parthenon which he constructed. The project was in conjunction with his social studies class which has been studying ancient Greece. Mike used styrofoam, corrugated cardboard and construction paper for the basic structure. It is on display in the children's room at the downtown public library. (Press-Record Photo by Pat Foley)

Weekend camp for Troop 7

Taking part in a weekend camping "adventure" at Camp Lion's Den, near Imperial, Mo., last week were members of Boy Scout Troop 7, sponsored by St. Joseph Catholic Church.

During the campout, the scouts participated in various patrol and troop activities, including building survival shelters, making camp fires, competing in scoutcraft quizzes, campfire songs, football and a night tracking hike.

Enroute home from camp, troop members stopped in Arnold, Mo., for lunch.

Among the boys participating were Senior Patrol Leader Steve Kusmierczak Jr., Reuben Garcia, Jeff Kittel, William Falbe, Tony Jordan, Kevin Williamson, Bryan Dillon, Jim Whitsell, Karl Markovich Jr., Frank Scaturro, Steve Falbe, Charlie Alexander, Mike Brazel, Raymond Guenther and Webebo scouts.

Transportation to Camp Lion's Den was provided by Karl Kittel, Karl Markovich Sr., Steve Kusmierczak Sr., Joseph Barron, Jeanne Brandon, Bob Hagen, Hugh Jordan, Theodore Brazel, Lynetta Hegge and Larry Falbe, parents of the scouts.

Dixon will be new breed in Senate

By ROBERT ESTILL

WASHINGTON — What kind of senator will Sen. Al Dixon, D-Ill., be?

If experience is a guide, he will be a different breed of cat than fellow Democrat Adlai Stevenson whom he succeeds.

They have certain similarities. Stevenson was a senator. Both served as state treasurers and in the Illinois Legislature, have strong downstate followings and have maintained a degree of independence from the Cook County Democratic organization.

But they have notable differences in their backgrounds, personalities and style. Stevenson started out with a political silver spoon by virtue of his family name — and never tarnished that name through his Senate service.

Dixon made it on his own. As a senator, Stevenson often has been a solitary figure. He simply is not a backslapper by nature and generally has resisted the temptation to ingratiate himself to his colleagues by co-sponsoring their bills. Dixon is more outgoing and gregarious. As a veteran of 20 years in the state Legislature where he earned a reputation as a skilled horse-trader, it is not unreasonable to believe he will take more heartily to the congressional wheeling and dealing than his predecessor.

As a public speaker, Stevenson is given to serious and frequently extended — discussions of complex issues. Dixon is more the kind of guy any Democrat would welcome at a Fourth of July rally. Dixon's "rah-rah" speaking style causes some to suggest he is less cerebral

But Dixon, who finished second in his law class at Washington University in St. Louis, has a political track record that evidences shrewdness. He has never lost a bid for elective office in three decades. You do not win — and win big — in the rough-and-tumble of Illinois politics if your bulb is not lit. Stevenson has spoken forcefully, occasionally taking strong stances that were unpopular at the time. He was an early critic of the Vietnam War, warned of an energy crisis 18 months before the 1974 Arab oil embargo, was an early advocate of hiking gasoline taxes to reduce dependence on foreign oil, was one of the first prominent Democrats to publicly castigate President Carter, and more recently opposed restrictions on foreign car imports even though the U.S. automotive industry is suffering.

Dixon, who had been a strong voice in the state Senate, generally has steered clear of controversy as Illinois' secretary of state. He is expected to follow the traditional role of a Senate freshman in keeping a low and studious profile — at least until he has his feet on the ground.

The one certainty of Dixon's future Senate service will be a heavy emphasis on Illinois issues and concerns.

He already has demonstrated that by starting — before even assuming the office — to fully computerize the mail operations (Stevenson's office receives as many as 11,000 letters a month) to expedite fast responses to constituents.

The Illinois concern also shows in the committee assignments he sought. Although Illinois is a major agricultural state, Dixon will be the first Illinoisan to serve on the Senate Agriculture Committee in 30 years.

He also will serve on the Senate Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs Committee. Stevenson, an outgoing member of that same committee, concentrated on improving exports and international finance, both important for a big export state like Illinois. While Dixon also can be expected to be concerned about exports, his background as a former bank director and state treasurer suggests he will be involved with the financial community and its impact on borrowers, consumers and small businesses. In fact, his third committee assignment is the Select Committee on Small Business.

He does start with some drawbacks. Stevenson was a member of the majority party throughout his decade in the Senate. Dixon will be at the bottom of the seniority list since the GOP now will control the Senate and the only other freshman Democratic senator, Thomas Dodd, D-Conn., has five years experience in the U.S. House.

But Dixon does have one big edge. He has more experience in elective office than Dodd, the 12 freshman Republican senator, and many of the incumbent senators. Dixon, now 53, was first elected to office as a magistrate in his native Belleville at the age of 21. He served 12 years in the Illinois House, eight years in the state Senate, six years as state treasurer, and four years as secretary of state. In fact, he has drawn some criticism from fellow Democrats for using offices as a stepping stone and leaving them in mid-term, as he did as treasurer and secretary of state, to pursue higher offices. He is not likely to forego the Senate for higher office — at least not for a while.

As a freshman senator whose party is in the minority, it would not be fair to expect too much too soon in the way of legislative accomplishments from the state's new junior senator. But Dixon is accustomed to being outnumbered in legislative chambers. The Republicans were in control of the state Senate throughout Dixon's tenure there, and he was still able to function effectively as the downstate Democratic Senate leader.

Prison building behind schedule

SPRINGFIELD — The new Illinois minimum-security prison still under construction at Centralia has slipped even more behind schedule, and Corrections officials now say it will be at least the end of February before more inmates are sent there and rehiring of laid-off guards can resume.

The prison and prison facility, the John Graham prison at Hillsboro, though also behind the department's original schedule, is still "on target" for its most recent occupation date, with inmate transfers expected to begin in mid-February.

The newest delay at Centralia, according to Associate Corrections Director Mike Lane, results from problems receiving equipment needed to complete the dietary building. Until that structure is functional, the corrections industries space is being used as a temporary dining hall, and additional inmates cannot be handled.

When at capacity, the new prisons will each house 750 inmates. Original department plans had called for both to be ready for occupancy by last October, with full occupancy expected by this month.

Instead, only a comparative handful of prisoners are at either facility, and while Hillsboro may reach a population of about 200 by the end of next month, even barring additional delays the Centralia prison apparently won't have a population of 200 until at least March.

Special additional classes of guards were trained at the department's training academy in Springfield to staff the new facilities, but members of the two new classes were sworn in then immediately laid off, at the conclusion of their training. However, Lane said the department is confident the newly graduated guards understand the situation and will be available for rehiring and starting their duties as soon as there is a need for them.

Inmates at both prisons will be those with five years or less to serve, and whose records indicate they have successfully adjusted to prison life.

Lane said some time ago that a full roster of inmates who had been screened, and found acceptable for the new facilities, was already completed and the agency could begin more inmate transfers as soon as space was available.

The new prisons were approved as at least a temporary solution to a problem of about 200 by the end of next month, even barring additional delays the Centralia prison apparently won't have a population of 200 until at least March.

The new prisons were approved as at least a temporary solution to a problem of about 200 by the end of next month, even barring additional delays the Centralia prison apparently won't have a population of 200 until at least March.

Special additional classes of guards were trained at the department's training academy in Springfield to staff the new facilities, but members of the two new classes were sworn in then immediately laid off, at the conclusion of their training. However, Lane said the department is confident the newly graduated guards understand the situation and will be available for rehiring and starting their duties as soon as there is a need for them.

Lottery may hit $200 million mark

By JOAN MURARO

SPRINGFIELD — If sales of lottery tickets continue to keep up their current brisk performance, the lottery could hit the $200 million sales mark this year, according to lottery superintendent Richard W. Carlson.

At the same time Carlson said lottery officials are studying the possibility of dropping the weekly lottery game, on which the operation was based six years ago, in favor of the instant games and the big money-maker, the Daily Game.

Carlson said sales by the seventh month of the current fiscal year have exceeded the total for the entire 12 months of the last fiscal year, when sales produced $98.4 million. Currently, sales are running in excess of $4 million a week, he said.

Most of this is attributable to the Daily Game, introduced nearly a year ago.

The instant games, which change as one is completed and replaced by another, are also holding up well, Carlson said, while the weekly games now produce only a tiny sliver of the overall lottery revenue.

In the first six months of the current fiscal year, Carlson said, Daily Game sales reached $68,257,000 and paid out $31,560,064 in prizes.

On its best week so far, Carlson said, the Daily Game by itself took in $3,311,000 of the total sales which ended Dec. 15, even though overall lottery sales expectedly declined somewhat in the period around Christmas.

In December, Carlson said, gross sales were approximately $18 million, with $13.6 million that coming from the Daily Game, and another $3.6 million generated by the instant game.

The Daily Game permits players to pick their own numbers, select one of nine ways in which to play, and the cost of their bets — either 50 cents or $1. Agents print the player's ticket instantly in the store, using a state-supplied computer terminal. Winnings run between $25 and $500, and most can be collected the same day at the seller's place of business, by winners.

Interest in becoming an agent for the lottery has soared along with sales, Carlson said, with roughly 700 terminals now in service, and applications pending for about 100 more. Installation depends on thorough investigation of applicants, Carlson said, and availability of telephone lines and installation. The lottery director estimated that there will be 850 to 900 terminals on line around the state by the end of the current fiscal year, next June 30. He said he would consider about 2,000 terminals a "saturation" situation, and said he doubted that figure would be reached in less than four years.

Indicative of the lottery's burst of strength since the Daily Game was begun, Carlson said total gross sales in December 1979 were $3.3 million, an amount which was less than half of the net profits of $7.5 million last December, when gross sales were $18 million.

Aside from spiraling sales which, Carlson said, have reached $35,769,051 into the state's General Revenue fund last year, more than $1 million more has been generated as a result of the investigation which accompanies applications for licensing as agents for the Daily Game.

"We check everything," he said, "including whether they own the state anything for taxes or fees. If they do, we hold up the application until the obligation has been met. It's been a highly successful approach. So far, we've produced more than $1 million which was owed, but hasn't previously been collected."

Of the $35.7 million which went into the revenue fund, he said approximately $14.2

million went to elementary, secondary and higher education, and $14.8 million supported human services programs. Another $3.4 million went for other state services, while $1.7 million was earmarked for local revenue-sharing and debt services. Tax relief for the elderly, and other tax refunds, benefited from another $1.4 million.

Only 9.6 percent of the lottery revenues are used to operate the lottery, which remains "totally self-supporting," he said.

Since the lottery was begun in July 1979, ticket sale revenue has totaled approximately $655 million, he said, with nearly $281 million that amount going to the state's General Revenue fund. In the period, more than 34 million lottery players won nearly $300 million in prizes.

At the time the lottery was begun, opponents charged it not only put the state in the position of supporting gambling, but warned it would be an attractive prize for undesirable interests to seek.

Opponents have basically remained steady in their position against the lottery, Carlson said, but said he believes the bulk of those conservative legislators who had fought establishment of the lottery have finally become convinced that the operation is "well managed, very secure" and free from any possibility of illegal gambling affiliation.

Though the weekly game was the parent of the more highly successful offspring, the instant games and the Daily Game, it currently only provides about 5 percent of the total lottery sales, Carlson said, adding that in some other states, where the same pattern of declining popularity of the weekly games has been observed, the weekly games have been dropped. He said lottery officials have been studying pros and cons of such a course in Illinois, but said no immediate decision on such a step is likely.

SURVEILLANCE PHOTOGRAPHY is discussed by Bill Slowinski, left, instructor for the law enforcement photography training program presented by the Southwestern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission. Crime scene and subject identification photography was also taught. Seated at

Farmers undecided on snow fence project

By SHARON MAHER

SPRINGFIELD — Only 16 farmers are participating in a program sponsored by the Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) to use row crops as snow fence, according to figures in the department.

Ed Kehl of IDOT said there have been many requests for information about the project but that most farmers are still undecided about whether they will participate. The program was made possible through legislation sponsored by Rep. Jack Davis, R-Beecher, in the 81st General Assembly.

Some farmers believe it is too much of a nuisance to leave the corn standing as they harvest or plow in the fall, Kehl said.

The accumulation of large amounts of snow can also cause fields to be wetter in the spring, causing delays in planting, he points out.

Besides the farmers' lack of enthusiasm for the project, IDOT has had other problems in implementing the program, Kehl said.

Lack of funding in some highway districts prevented some farmers from being included, he said. Kehl said there were also instances where a farmer was interested but did not have fields that met the department's needs.

Fields may be used only if they are planted in corn and the rows run parallel to the road or a structure that might be located on the side of the prevailing wind where there is a slightly depressed area or a structure that might promote drifting, Kehl said.

Crops such as soybeans or corn that is planted perpendicular to the roadway is not very effective in stopping the blowing snow, Kehl said.

The department has spent $2,068 to farmers who are participating in the program, Kehl said.

When he sponsored the legislation, Davis said he felt the standing row crops would hold back drifting snow that was blocking some highways. He said he had noticed that after leaving some corn standing along a roadway to his house, the snow had not drifted.

The use of natural snow fence is an advantage for IDOT because it does not require the use of department materials or personnel.

Besides the row crop project, IDOT is using other natural snow fences. Trees and shrubs have been planted along roadways to keep drifts off the pavement. Kehl said plantings have been used primarily along interstates where there is a large right-of-way.

In addition to natural snow fences, the department installs about 200 miles of conventional snow fence each year, Kehl said. Many farmers oppose the installation of conventional fence for the same reasons they dislike the use of their corn crops for snow fence, Kehl said.

Kehl said natural snow fences have not been given a good test in Illinois because there has been little snow since the department started the project.

He said plantings are now being tested for effectiveness in Wyoming by the National Forest Service and a similar project is under way at Iowa State University.

Richard Dawson, 42, of 5717 Old Allon Road, was arrested at 7:42 p.m. Saturday behind the Farm Fresh building on Nameoki Road, charged with city battery after he allegedly caused a disturbance at Casa Gonzalez, 3717 Crossroads Plaza, a few minutes earlier.

According to police he allegedly made obscene remarks to a waitress and guitar player at the restaurant and when asked to leave by an employee he struck him in the face four times.

Dawson allegedly left the scene as officers arrived and ran across the parking area.

Transition employees getting pay raises

By AL MANNING

SPRINGFIELD — Nearly all of the employees who are switching jobs because of the transition from Democrats to Republicans in the secretary of state's office are receiving salary increases.

Secretary of State Jim Edgar, in most cases, is paying slightly more to his employees than what Alan Dixon did when he held the office.

Joan Schlif, who was being paid $30,000 as Edgar's assistant when he was director of legislative relations, receives a substantial boost to $40,500. Her predecessor as assistant secretary of state, Gene Callahan, was paid $40,100.

Schlif's raise is certainly justified from the point of view that her responsibilities are being dramatically increased, but it is still interesting that she will be paid more than Callahan.

Frank Cellini, who was being paid $37,680 as Secretary John Kramer's assistant at the Department of Transportation, will be paid $38,000. Craig Lovitt was the highest paid front-office administrative aide in the Dixon administration. He received $37,100.

Terry Scrogum and Philip Howe were both being paid $30,000 in the governor's office, and they will go to $33,000 in the secretary of state's office. Two of Dixon's aides, Leo Fitzgerald and Tim McAnearney, were paid $36,840 and $32,895, respectively.

Penny Clifford, Edgar's secretary, goes from $42,280 to $23,000, and Gary Strain, his scheduler, is receiving a boost from $11,016 to $20,000. George Fleischli, who has been named as the director of Physical Services, will be paid $34,000. He was being paid $30,204 at the Department of Conservation. However, he is being paid substantially less than his predecessor, Gene Graves.

Graves was paid $42,737. Allen Grosbobl, who has been appointed as director of Motor Vehicles, will also be paid $34,000. He was being paid $25,680 under Lt. Gov. Dave O'Neal. His predecessor, Scott Shearer, was paid $34,836.

The salaries being paid in the Chicago office are also noteworthy. Edgar's press secretary, Ed Gilbreth (who carries the title director of research) is being paid more than the deputy secretary of state, Wayne Anderson. Gilbreth is being paid $45,000, Anderson, $41,000. The other appointee in Chicago, Lou Kasper, is being paid $35,000.

The employees who are leaving the secretary of state's office to join Dixon's Washington staff will receive raises, too.

Callahan, who is directing the Washington staff, will be paid $51,000 and Lovitt, $43,000.

Dean "Mac" MacClane was being paid $42,156 in the secretary of state's office. He'll be paid $43,000 in Washington.

Shearer's salary will be $38,400.

Connie Forcum, Dixon's secretary, will receive an increase from $15,540 to $21,000.

Of course, the cost of living in Washington is substantially higher than it is in Springfield, so even with increases those transferring will be hard-pressed to maintain the same standard of living.

It should also be pointed out that Dixon's predecessor, Adlai Stevenson, paid his top staffer $25,687. He had five employees earning over $40,000.

McAnearney, who will head the Springfield office, will be paid the same amount he earned in the secretary of state's office.

Two administrative assistants in Springfield, Loren Barber and Yvonne Rice, each are being paid $20,000. Barber is the only one who is switching from one government job to another who is taking a sharp pay cut. As director of Current Records and Statistics he was paid $39,456. Rice was paid $27,458 as director of Accounting.

Joe McMahon, who directs the Chicago office, goes from $44,100 to $46,000. And Dave Wagner, who directs the office in southern Illinois, goes from $18,867 to $21,000.

Of course, Dixon and Edgar both are paid more money in their new offices, too.

Edgar's salary goes from $42,600 to $50,500. Dixon will be paid $60,662.

Two here win $5,000 prizes

Richard Beville, 1535 Second St., Madison, and Harold A. Mason, 1406 Norwood Drive, Granite City, each has won $5,000 from the Illinois state lottery.

Beville won in the $1 instant double game when he uncovered the same prize number of $2,500 on two spots and a star on another spot. He bought his ticket at the Save-Mor market, 1508 Third St., Madison.

Mason won the top weekly prize in the $1 weekly lottery bingo game, matching four numbers in the second row to earn $5,000. He bought his ticket at the Town & Country Drive Inn, Rural Route Two, Granite City.

NOW promises push for women's rights

By SHARON MAHER

SPRINGFIELD — The General Assembly faces an "unfinished agenda" in regard to women's rights, according to Sheila Stoll Clark, president of the Illinois chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW).

Clark and national NOW board member Maureen Rogman discussed several areas of special interest to women which will be presented to the Legislature in the upcoming session, at a Capitol press conference.

Among the issues they listed were better laws for rape victims and continued funding of rape prevention and victims' assistance programs.

The organization will also be involved in introduction and passage of inheritance tax reform laws and reforms in child custody law, according to Clark.

"The passage of ERA is first on our agenda, but we are also going to be involved in other legislation that affects women," Rogman said.

Clark said the prospects for passage of the ERA do not look bad at this point, but said the organization does not have a timetable for passage of the amendment in Illinois, but rather has adopted a "wait and see" position for the time being.

She said that reforms in the areas in which NOW will be active points up the need for the amendment.

Rogman said that without ERA women will have no guarantee that legislative remedies for discrimination will not be revoked.

"I am fearful of how easy it will be to see attacks on women's issues," Rogman said.

There has been a definite response to the current trend, Rogman said. Since the election there has been significant growth in the organization. Eight new chapters have been formed and calls from volunteers are coming in every day, Clark said.

Both women emphasized NOW is not a single-issue organization. The organization is also involved in other aspects of women's issues, including inheritance tax law reform, especially as it affects farm widows, and reforms in child custody laws as well as the various programs of rape legislation.

Nationally, NOW is joining other groups gearing up for major campaigns to halt adoption of the "human life" amendment and the Family Protection Act, they said.

According to Rogman, the human life amendment will end not only legalized abortion but the availability of birth control.

The current strategy, they said, is designed to call attention to the many areas where legislative action is needed.

Many legislators have said they are for equal rights for women but not for the amendment, Rogman said.

She said that reforms in the areas in which NOW will be active points up the need for the amendment.

Rogman said that without ERA women will have no guarantee that legislative remedies for discrimination will not be revoked.

Reagan reaches to the stars

By DICK MAURICE

LAS VEGAS — Will RONALD REAGAN be governing the country by astrology? A number of leading astrologers believe that Mr. Reagan will make a great many decisions by turning to his horoscope chart. He's such a firm believer that when he was inaugurated as governor of California, he insisted that the inauguration take place at 10 minutes after midnight because he was convinced that this was the best astrological time to begin his term as governor.

JOYCE JILLSON, who appeared on my national radio broadcast from the Riviera Hotel, announced that she was commissioned by a Reagan aide $1,200 to prepare charts during the Republican Convention on eight men whom Mr. Reagan was considering as a running mate. She advised Mr. Reagan that according to the stars, GEORGE BUSH was his man.

Las Vegas astrologer, JAMES HARVEY, had been

Zucchini Banana Brunch Bread

1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
3 tsps. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
1/2 cup cinnamon
1 cup regular rolled oats
2 fairly large ripe bananas
3/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup vegetable oil
2 large eggs

1 zucchini (about 1/4 lb.), unpared and shredded medium-fine (3/4 cup slightly packed down)
1/2 cup chopped (fairly fine) walnuts

On wax paper or brown paper stir together the flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon; stir in the oats. Into a medium bowl slice the bananas; with an electric beater on high speed, beat until finely mashed — there should be 1 cup. Add the sugar and oil; at high speed beat to blend; add the eggs, one at a time, beating until blended each time. Add the flour mixture; at low speed, beat only until the dry ingredients are moistened. With a rubber spatula, fold in the zucchini and walnuts. Turn into an oiled and floured 9-by-9-by-1 1/2-inch cake pan. Bake in a preheated, 350-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean — 40 minutes. Cut in squares in pan, remove and serve warm with butter. If desired, loosen edges and turn out on a wire rack before cutting.

Who is that lady on 'Wall Street'?

By THOM MEAD
HOLLYWOOD — The

TV Mailbag:

Q. As a longtime viewer of PBS' "Wall Street Week," I've always been curious about the gal who escorts the guests and is often seen in the background of the set. I now know her name, Natalie ie Seltz, but who is she? — W.W., Lenhartsville, Pa.

A. Natalie Seltz, who is referred to on "Wall Street Week" as Miss Smythe, is the senior television director for the Maryland Center.

Although a senior director for 14 years, she began her on-camera duties as stage manager about 10 years ago at the request of executive producer John H. Davis, who needed someone to assist guests with mikes and cues.

Q. What do you have on actor John Hurt? He was great in "I, Claudius" and "Crime and Punishment," not to mention "Midnight Express." — T.S., North Port, Fla.

A. The 40-year-old British actor is the son of a clergyman. He studied at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts and made his movie debut as Sir Thomas Moore in "A Man For All Seasons."

Hurt gained much attention for his role as the junkie in "Midnight Express," receiving an Oscar nomination and winning a Golden Globe Award. He was also honored with a BAFTA, the British Oscar, for the role.

He's in line for additional recognition for his performance in the movie, "Elephant Man."

Q. Why did they kill off Edith Bunker? Why couldn't they keep her alive without showing her? — N.B., Medina, N.Y.

A. The show's producers felt that since Jean Stapleton refused to appear as Edith Bunker, even in an occasional appearance, it was better to "kill her off" so Archie could develop interest in other women. Last season, Stapleton agreed to play Edith in four episodes of "Archie Bunker's Place" but subsequently declared no more.

A slick plan for a rainy day.

Some people manage to go through life without ever having a rainy day. But most people run into a storm now and then.

So it pays to plan for a storm and then hope it never happens.

The Payroll Savings Plan is one sure, safe, easy way to force yourself to start saving. And savings are a must to keep any financial plan from going on the skids.

The little you set aside each payday for U.S. Savings Bonds will grow. And help to keep you covered come rain or come shine.

And if you're lucky enough to miss the rain, it might help you plant a few shade trees.

Take stock in America.

When you put part of your savings into U.S. Savings Bonds you're helping to build a brighter future for your country and for yourself.
